Figure 14 is a diagrammatic representation depicting a transaction flow for updating a remote data cache using augmented source done information.

Figure 15 is a flow process diagram showing a remote data cache update using augmented source done information.